RESEARCH EXPERIENCE

Eye-tracking Research Team Lead <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Obtained new results about how the first and last two letters of a solution word are particularly informative in solving a word puzzle (anagram) by designing and running a highly stimulus-manipulated eye-tracking experiment on 29 subjects and applying statistical tests to the data. Cleaned, prepared, and analyzed raw data of over 1.8 million rows with Pandas and NumPy. Currently leading a six-member research team advised by Dr. Minjoon Kouh. Presented at the University of Scranton Brain and Behavior Conference on March 7th. Poster can be viewed on jessemurray.com.	Drew University	May 2019 – Present
Statistics Researcher <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Created a population model of polygenic inheritance derived from the linear regression and normality of polygenic traits. $R^2=0.81$ with Galton's height data and $R^2=0.96$ with US family income data. The calculus involved model was simulated in python. Recently began working with Dr. Yi Lu to edit a paper for undergraduate journal submission. Paper can be viewed on jessemurray.com.	Drew University	Nov 2019 – Present
Atmospheric Chemistry Researcher <ul style="list-style-type: none">• Studied adsorption rates of the atmospheric aerosol, Pinene, onto sand samples through infrared spectroscopy under varying humidity and temperature conditions. Simulated molecules with Gaussian and analyzed data with IGOR Pro.	Drew University	May 2017 – Aug 2017
